

West Elgin Chronicle

www.thechronicle-online.com

Serving the communities of
West Elgin, Dutton-Dunwich,
Southwold, Newbury, Wardsville,
Muirkirk, Duart, Clachan
and surrounding area

Thursday, October 13, 2011

ARTS & COOKERY

Jesse Cnockaert The Chronicle

Have a crostini

Student Jack Yu serves a pear and Canadian cheddar crostini to Linda Weber, one of his instructors, at the Arts and Cookery Bank Oct. 7. The students of a Canadian Culture Class from Kings University College visited Sutton Farms and R-Grow Farms to pick local produce, then they visited the Arts and Cookery Bank in West Lorne and were instructed how to cook the food into tasty treats. The 13 students were mostly from South Korea.

Jesse Cnockaert The Chronicle

Kneading the dough

Chef John Marleitner of Tall Tales Cafe, Wallacetown, was at the Arts and Cookery Bank and showed Shyla Shon, and other students how to prepare the apples and sweet potatoes they had gathered that day.

West Elgin Chronicle

www.thechronicle-online.com

Serving the communities of
West Elgin, Dutton-Dunwich,
Southwold, Newbury, Wardsville,
Muirkirk, Duart, Clachan
and surrounding area

Thursday, October 13, 2011

ARTS & COOKERY

Jesse Cnockaert The Chronicle

Have a crostini

Student Jack Yu serves a pear and Canadian cheddar crostini to Linda Weber, one of his instructors, at the Arts and Cookery Bank Oct. 7. The students of a Canadian Culture Class from Kings University College visited Sutton Farms and R-Grow Farms to pick local produce, then they visited the Arts and Cookery Bank in West Lorne and were instructed how to cook the food into tasty treats. The 13 students were mostly from South Korea.

Jesse Cnockaert The Chronicle

Kneading the dough

Chef John Marleitner of Tall Tales Cafe, Wallacetown, was at the Arts and Cookery Bank and showed Shyla Shon, and other students how to prepare the apples and sweet potatoes they had gathered that day.

West Elgin Chronicle

www.thechronicle-online.com

Serving the communities of
West Elgin, Dutton-Dunwich,
Southwold, Newbury, Wardsville,
Muirkirk, Duart, Clachan
and surrounding area

Thursday, October 13, 2011

ARTS & COOKERY

Jesse Cnockaert The Chronicle

Have a crostini

Student Jack Yu serves a pear and Canadian cheddar crostini to Linda Weber, one of his instructors, at the Arts and Cookery Bank Oct. 7. The students of a Canadian Culture Class from Kings University College visited Sutton Farms and R-Grow Farms to pick local produce, then they visited the Arts and Cookery Bank in West Lorne and were instructed how to cook the food into tasty treats. The 13 students were mostly from South Korea.

Jesse Cnockaert The Chronicle

Kneading the dough

Chef John Marleitner of Tall Tales Cafe, Wallacetown, was at the Arts and Cookery Bank and showed Shyla Shon, and other students how to prepare the apples and sweet potatoes they had gathered that day.